Wednesday 13, My Demise

Theres a crack in the frame
But the photo is the same
But I dont recognize the face
It looks a lot like me, or who I used to be
Now there's no one but myself to blame
Now the shadows are all around
Mines nowhere to be found

Pull the wings of a fly Watch it suffer and die And ill never get out of this life alive Drenched in blood with no alibi And the crowd goes wild at my demise

Through this bottle I can see My friends and enemies As they turn their backs on me But whos really to blame Myself or just my name But in the end, I cant win
