Weezer, Broken Arrows

Every hour every day since youve gone far away its a rough canopy of dreams and broken arrows and broken arrows

baby dont you know,know get in the car just before we go we go we go every hour every day though it seems far away its a last chance to be with you and heal your heart ache and heal your heart ache and baby dont you know,know get in the car just before we go we go we go and after all that we couldnt taste we turn to you and say this the way we have no mind we have to find I need love I need love

Every hour every day every hour every day
