

Whitesnake, Northwinds

Taking it easy, taking it slow
Riding home to lay my body down
Thought about it long enough
To let it slip away
I feel like a stranger today
Lost in who is across the water
Took me away from home
It seems that you gave enough
To get down on your knees and pray
I've been waiting for the sun to shine
To spirit the rain away
I take sun that fall down on lord
Calling on the northwinds
When the cloud get in the way
Nothing ever changes the sun remains the same
You've got a long way to give
To sit down on an empty train
(Break)
It's been a long time, I'm black and blue
Taking it easy, living from day to day
Sometimes it feels so good to finally see life
Write it in a notebook, you won't repeat it twice
I'll take the sun before the rain anyday
Call on the northwinds when clouds get in the way
Nothing ever changes the sun remains the same
Oh I've got a long way to give, I'm sitting on an empty train
I could make it sound oh so easy
When you live my life for so long
It seems it ain't never it ain't never enough
To set down on your knees and pray
So tell me how does the train live on...
I've missed an empty train