

Why Store, Fool's Bargain

Ooh! It's such a dark stretch
Cruel though it seems
A parallel between life and fate
A parallel between you and me
And all your worried wisdom baby
Gets you through the night
And though it all surrounds you there
You harvest the light
A blurred vision lurks you see
Deep within the why
A fall before the worthless one
Come and see this holy child
I bought a fool's bargain
Would you believe I bought a fool's game
Oh, can't you see how this whole thing started
Would you believe ever in a fool's dream
A true religion is hard to find
And some will steal your soul
Well, I'm the one who walks the line
I'm the one who knows
And all your worried wisdom baby
Can get you through the night
And though it all surrounds you there
You harvest the light
I bought a fool's bargain
Would you believe I bought a fool's game
Oh, can't you see how this whole thing started
Would you believe ever in a fool's dream
Ooh! It's such a dark stretch
Cruel though it seems
A parallel between life and fate
A parallel between you and me
I bought a fool's bargain
Would you believe I bought a fool's game
Oh, can't you see how this whole thing started
Would you believe ever in a fool's dream
