

Wide Mouth Mason, Fa Na Na

She didn't make it but it's alright
I think I stumbled on the invite.
I just shoulda said it outright
but I didn't so there you go
I had a dream I was an old man
Caught the devil running through my head
He said, "You're better off playing dead."
Now I feel alone again.

He was givin' me the moonshine
I thought there wouldn't be another line
Is this gonna be the last time
This has made me blind
He fell apart like a neutron
He put me down like a mastadon
Now I'm laying in Saskatchewan
With birds around my head since we arrived

Everything comes down, when it's up.
It comes in when it's out.
Everything comes down, when it's up.
It comes in when it's out.

She didn't make it , but it's alright
I think I stumbled on the invite
I just shoulda said it outright
but i didn't so there you go

Everything comes down, when it's up.
It comes in when it's out.
Everything comes down, when it's up.
It comes in when it's out.