

Wild Orchid, In My Room

Silence
Here in my room
A symphony in my mind
Shadows
Dance on the wall
Impossible to confine

Dreams of a happy day gone by
Leave me asking wondering why
I never saw it there in your eyes
I never wanted too much
I never needed too much
Then at the moment of truth
You only thought about you
Who will save me
Baby
When the walls come crashing down
In my room

Voices calling your name
My broken dreams on the ground
Fighting tears as they fall
Trying hard not to drown

Dreams of my window open wide
All the nights you crawled inside
How could you let me think
You would stay

I never wanted too much
I never needed too much
But at the moment of truth
The one you thought of was you
Who will save me
Baby
When the walls come crashing down
In my room

I never wanted too much
I never needed too much
But at the moment of truth
All I can think of is you
In my room
