

William Tell, Maybe Tonight

Sometimes you get what you want
Sometimes you get what you need
Sometimes you find everything in me
There's times it doesn't make sense
And I can barely believe that you still find anything in me

I'm coming apart
I'm coming to you
This game has pushed you so far
Can you pull me through?

Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight we'll find a place between you and me

The cost is selling you short
The life, it gets in the way
I finally feel strong enough to brave
The words that I couldn't keep but always meant to say
How can we find the time to fill this space?

I'm coming apart
I'm coming to you
This game has pushed you so far
Can you pull me through?

Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight we'll find a way,
Maybe tonight well find a place between you and me

We're so close, just make it stay
I haven't lived to feel this way
Its been down, but were not out
This is all I need right now

Sometimes you get what you want
Sometimes you get what you need
Sometimes you find everything in me

Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight well find a way,
Maybe tonight well find a place between you and me