

Willie Nelson, You'll Always Have Someone

Discontent, you must leave,
Leaving love, leaving me.
So go away for your dreams to come true.
But should young dreams grow old,
And warm friendships grow cold,
There'll be someone waiting for you.

And if you ever find,
That fate is unkind,
An' the devil starts takin' his dues.
When your fair weather friends,
Leave when fair weather ends,
There'll be someone waiting for you.

You'll always have someone who loves you.
You're never alone, don't you see?
And when your world's slowin' down,
You'll need someone around:
Let that someone always be me.

Instrumental break.

You'll always have someone who loves you.
You're never alone, don't you see?
And when your world's slowin' down,
You'll need someone around:
An' let that someone always be me.
