

Wind Walkers, Drowning Hymns

Time

Slipping through your fingers

Like that wine

That you drink with such conviction

Must be a

Heavy load to always know

How do you always say composed?

With that confidence you're screaming out

Down on your knees how do you grow?

But I saw

The good side coming out of your mouth

You had your arms wide open

You were preaching it out

And those eyes were so bright

The damned saw no light

Then I saw the bad side and you bottled it up

And through the anger and the doubt

The beauty wasn't enough

This is not my kind of love

I try to see it through your eyes

Lift me up, lift me up

I look up all that I see is the sky

Lift me up, lift me up

Lift me up

Pace

You're not keeping the pace up

When you're pulling your face on late

I watched you let them feast

But then you turned so hollow

Thought you broke every bone

Take a healing dose to your body

Right before you know

You're comatose

When will you recognize it

Recognize it

But I saw

The good side coming out of your mouth

You had your arms wide open

You were preaching it out

And those eyes were so bright

The damned saw no light

Then I saw

The bad side and you bottled it up

And through the anger and the doubt

The beauty wasn't enough

This is not my kind of love

I try to see it through your eyes

Lift me up, lift me up

I look up all that I see is the sky

Lift me up, lift me up

Lift me up

Pacify with no fear but you're selling it all

Pacify with no fear but you're selling it all

Covered in twine

Covered in soot

Closing your eyes to avoid the truth

No more back and forth or spitting words

Or selling yourself to a fallen soul

I try to see it though your eyes
Lift me up lift me up
I look up all that see is the sky
Lift me up lift me up
Lift me up

Pacify with no fear but you're selling it
