

With Honor, The Mirror

I've let tomorrow be a good excuse for not changing today looking over our lists of to-do's routines have gotten in the way day in, day out it becomes the same I'm tired of standing for nothing and sleepwalking our time away leaving our questions unanswered or never asking at all could we be something more than we are right now?

eyes closed, shut tight, apathy has us by the throat, loosen the ropes and let our dreams take flight!

so often we let our dreams fall away but not this time... let's go

I feel like I've never wanted something so bad as this stand up and be something more!

we'll make a change STAND UP no time to waste RIGHT NOW.