

Wolfsheim, Blind

I think of you like I often do
When I hear the rain on my window pane
Gently tapping at the glass
Like your gently touching fingers
Just looking for the smile I give to you

Chorus:

You can feel what no one feels
You can hear what no one hears
Just looking for the smile I give to you
You can feel what no one feels
You can hear what no one wants to hear
Just looking for the smile I give to you

And your darkness speaks and has eyes to see and you know me by my voice but you know so much more than
"Don't fight the walls they're here for all" Is what you said to me once
I looked into your eyes and knew you were right

CHORUS

And your darkness speaks and has eyes to see
I know that you can win the, this lifelong game we're in
"Hey, darkness is a state of mind I can go where you would stumble" Is what you said to
I knew you were right
