Wolfsheim, The sparrows and the nightingales (Ic

How long have you been free In this world of hate and greed Is it black or is it white Let's find another compromise and our future standing still We're dancing in the spotlight Where is the leader who leads me I'm still waiting Leaving home

And god is on your side
Dividing sparrows from the nightingales
Watching all the time
Dividing water from the burning fire, inside

Leave a light on in the night for me
That I can find you
Remember when we both where young and reckless and so curious
Now you're hiding from your child
A new day's dawning
Remember that you felt alive sometimes

And God is on your side Dividing cruelty from tenderness Watching all the time Dividing fiction from reality

Move in circles, walk on lines
No human being in sight
Calm the winds and calm the seas
Let's try another kind of peace
Who fights this holy civil war
A million men in uniform
Wo ist der Fhrer der mich fhrt
Ich warte immer noch
Leaving home

And God is on your side
Dividing presence from the history
Watching all the time
Dividing deaf men from the listening ones

And God is on your side Dividing soldiers from the fishermen Watching all the time Dividing warships from the ferryboats
