

Wynn Stewart, Let's Pretend We're Kids Again

As we grew up together we were such a sight to see
We both played house together you your rag doll and me
Then as we grew up we were married and that's when our troubles began
If we can't be happy as grown-ups let's pretend that we're kids once again

Just put on your high heel shoes like your mother used to had you wear
Let's pretend our little girl is your old rag doll with pretty pretty long curly hair
A love like ours so sweet true should never ever have to end
If we can't be happy as grown-ups let's pretend that we're kids once again
Oh if we can't be happy as grown-ups let's pretend that we're kids once again
