

Wynn Stewart, Young As Spring

I just heard a robin sing although it's much too soon
But it's spring within my heart because I'm so in love with you
It's not that time of year but I can hear that robin sing
My love for you is always new and just as young as spring

Though it may rain and snow I know our love just won't grow cold
It will always be the same and it will never grow old
The years may come and go but oh what happiness they'll bring
With you each day I'll always stay just as young as spring

( ac.guitar )

Though it may rain and snow...
Just as young as spring