

X-Wild, Chaos ends

(The lifting of the darkness, the freeing of Moroth, to roam free over Savageland, and the crowning of the new king Braveheart.)

At last the day has come, now we are free

The last battles fought so now we take our leave

The bells ring out across the land so loud

For on this day a new king has been crowned

We think of those we left behind

We know a new day has arrived

We shout, we scream, we laugh -

Savageland is free

New day, new start, new life -

Savageland is free

Across the sky the sun begins her climb

Eyes open wide we see the darkness die

And in the heavens a blinding shaft of light

It kisses Moroth in his freedom flight

We think of those we left behind

We know a new day has arrived

The Duke is dead, his hatred and his greed

Is in the past, a brave new world indeed

And in our dreams this day it had to come

With hands on heart a new life has begun

We think of those we left behind We know a new day has arrived