Xandria, Too Close To Breathe

We played with fire
Burning souls in the flames
Call me a liar
But now it's not the same
Silently creeping
Soon we were torn apart
By what once was sleeping
In the shadows of my heart
- forgive me

Too close to breathe he came to me Under my skin, making me high I didn't look for what I see To less to live too much to die - of love

Heart, don't believe You don't remind me of Joy & Don't remind me of Joy & Don't remind me of Though both they're gone You left me grey and without a core inside And I left myself by leaving you angry this night