

Xavier Rudd, This Little Space

I know things are strange now
The happy things are stained
Emptiness prevailing
Your stars drowned in shame
It all seems unstable and stable far away
And the anger just keeps looming
As you surge through your days

I'm feeling your frustration
And I'm sensing shades of pain
But I'm lightened by your comfort
In the child that we made
I'm amazed by your strength here
And I'm angry all the same
I'm standing so distant
From the core of your pain

The demons that have chased you
Have caught you on your trail
Emotionally vulnerable
Their timing sucks
Defenses frail
But your heart is such a strong one
It will seek those brighter days
And I will love you through these moments
And I'll be here all the way