

Xspace, Forever Stars Apart

by Costin Tuculescu and Benjamin Ackerman
Whats this bliss that takes me when i kiss you?
Will it take us away?

When i walk near you i close my eyes.

Wondering what to say...

And then i wonder:

Will you be there? or will you run away?

And then i wonder:

Can you see this? or do i have to say

That im the sun, and you're the moon-forever stars apart

Im the sun, and you're the moon-- forever out of touch, forever out of tune...

So take me with you when you go away

Tomorrow never comes again.

So choose your diction, but forget goodbyes

And maybe this wont be the end!

And as I've heard it all before but I never really thought that I would think about you when my heart's turned all black.

So we stand together now,

and our hands are turned to fists,

I don't want to fight,

but feelings I can't speak.

So glances we occasionally take,

my heart's more scarred the yours,

and how much I wish,

I could trade my place with YOU!