

Year Of The Rabbit, Last Defense

I tricked you with a simple mistake
I told you everything I know
I can't afford a pointless display of scars that only fade away
My guards have been waiting too long
Their eyes are getting heavy now
I think they've finally fallen asleep
Is that someone I hear outside my gate

You know the walls are falling
In my head
Tonight girl

You know the walls are falling
In my head
Tonight girl

I'm a headstone waiting for words
So just carve my epitaph for me
I can't ignore the songs of the past and wake up screaming from a borrowed dream
I am listening to your eyes speak
As the words are falling from my mouth
It's a sordid state of belief
When your last defense has sold you
Out for good

You know the walls are falling
In my head
Tonight girl

You know the walls are falling
In my head
Tonight girl

You know the walls are falling
In my head
Tonight girl

You know the walls are falling
In my head
Tonight girl