

Yellow Second, Resolute

reaping the seeds i planted things that i always took for granted i feel a little bit unstable tell me if i'm willing are you able to come and help me out right now? if you do, i'm resolute i wont back down broken and i'm still breaking change is my latest undertaking im only hoping that tomorrow has a greater hope for me to borrow im separated from the rest i will try, but i can only do my best today i saw myself with honest eyes and my face i barely recognized. if the wounded never heal what will i do?
how will i feel?
can i assume,
at least pretend,
that things will work out in the end?
sunken and I'm still sinking and you're the only thing I'm thinking of ties that I could hardly sever when I'm needing you now more than ever