Yes, Run Through The Light

(Downes, Horn, Howe, Squire, White)

I asked my love to give me shelter And all she offered me were dreams Of all the moments spent together That move like never ending streams.

Run to the light Everything is alright Run thro' the light of day You run to the light of night

And every movement made together Till every thought was just the same And all the pieces fit forever In the game.

Welcome to the light Now everything is okay Run thro' the light of night You run to the light of day.
