

Yesterdays Rising, Four Leaf Clover

Mischief will take you to a place
Far more dangerous than safe
Save yourself and think of your lies
Take into consideration that you are not alone in this
There are other people around you now

Hold on to something safe
Or the winds will blow you over
And you will taken away

To a place where nobody cares
A place where nobody dares
To enter because its fucking hot
This place shall be feared by all
No one would want to fall
Into a pit that is endless and forever

Hold on to something safe
Or the winds will blow you over
And you will taken away
Be careful what you say
There is no four leaf clover
With the luck to save you from this

Your testing boundaries
While Im quietly sleeping [x5]

Hold on to something safe
Or the winds will blow you over
And you will taken away
Be careful what you say
There is no four leaf clover
With the luck to save you from this