

Your Best Friend, Opening My Eyes

I crash into your world,
Something new I can feel...
Without knowing what to expect,
And not looking back on what I left...
For you...

Surrounded by poverty,
But rich with everything that matters...
Rich with faith, and hope, and love,
These reasons why you are truly above it all...

Opening my heart to a world anew,
Realizing now that I owe everything to you...

I want to free you from this pain,
Give you everything I can...
After all that's what you have done for me,
Opening my eyes to this world was blind,
But now I see...

You've given me your hand and I understand,
That we will never be alone,
We will always find our way back home...

Opening my eyes has never hurt this much before,
And I won't close my eyes,
Opening to what has been ignored,
Opening my eyes has never hurt this much before,
And I won't close my eyes...

Opening my eyes this time...