

Youth Of Today, Potential Friends

Here I sit so fucking shy wondering what's going through your mind or what you're even like as time ticks quickly by a life so short, incomplete so many people I'd like to meet feeling awkward, afraid potential friends I could've made why do we keep to ourselves and not dare to leave our fucking shells let our feelings and emotions blend we could be the best of friends