

Zed, Better on your own

Hey now Buddy don't u worry about it too long
You won't start winning 'til you tell her there's something wrong
You'll feel alot better if you hold it together
And sing a different song
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you let her go
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you just said no
Hey now honey dont you worry about it too long
He wont start singing 'til you tell just were your coming from
You'll feel alot better if you hold it together
And hope he sings along
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you let him go
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you just said no
You could be better on your own now
You gotta love yourself now
You gotta love yourself yeah
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you let her go
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you just said no
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you let her go
You could be better on your own
You could be better if you just said no
You could be better on your own
