10 Years, Alabama

Oh, I know your kind You would kill your kin for the right price Oil and water are thicker than blood Oh, I know your type

Use us to get what you wanted You can't finish what you started I find it kind of funny how you try To rectify the damage

Your failure to find compromise The walls are coming down Will you survive sacrifice Or tumble to the ground

You're lying to yourself And to everyone that knows your name You play the part of the fool so well Oh, I know your type

Use us to get what you wanted You can't even finish what you started I find it kind of funny how you try To rectify the damage

Your failure to find compromise The walls are coming down Will you survive sacrifice Or tumble to the ground

Oh...I know your type

Your failure to find compromise The walls are coming down Will you survive sacrifice Or tumble to the ground