

311, There's Always An Excuse

Ohhh, ohhh

There's always an excuse when you need one

There's always an excuse when you need one, ahhh

Always a reason for someone, ooh

There's always an excuse when you need one

There's always an excuse when you need one, ahhh

Always tiptoe around the turncoat today, yeah

Which mood is it gonna be today, yeah

This time you've done it

You hurt yourself good

Your best friend is gone

And it's understood

All alone and no singing

And in true LA style

Your phone stopped ringing

There's always an excuse when you need one

There's always an excuse when you need one, ahhh

There's always an excuse when you need one

There's always an excuse when you need one

Ahhh, always

Shut it down, get it right

'Cause a person can't win if they don't even put up a fight

Get it right

Everyone has got something that keeps them awake in the night

That's a fact

Don't think of the times that you gave up and let out some slack

Take it back

Don't think you're the only one going through it

Take it back

There's always an excuse when you need one

There's always an excuse when you need one

There's always an excuse when you need one

Always an excuse when you need one

Always an excuse when you need one

Always an excuse when you need one

Always an excuse when you need one

Always, alll, alll, always
