

5 Days Ahead, Afraid to Say This

The arrows struck my heart again.
I picked a rose and bled misery away.
I stepped into the light just to see a glimpse of you.
it feels like Im in a movie, as the orchestra plays you in.
slow motion when you flip your hair.
that shine in your eyes, it melts me.
I wish I could say this all to you,
but my heart jumps in my throat when you look my way.
my spine crawls out of my back.
theres so much I wish I could say but Im afraid. take this rose and stop the bleeding.
my broken heart is on my sleeve. and I dont wanna live in regret and let you get away.
take this rose and stop the bleeding. my broken heart is on my sleeve.
You can make it all better. all it needs is just one kiss. I wish I could reach out and your hand would find its way to mine. touch my lips and soothe my wounds.
remove this cross Ive carried so long.
you cry and wish there was someone for you.
I wish I could tell you. never say you dont look pretty.
whoever told you that lie is jealous of you.
(take this rose)