

5 Days Ahead, So Much For Plan a

Im giving up. never gave up on anything before in my life. congratulations. because of you Im believing love is a lie. you tell a girl the truth, that youre falling for her and she rips out your heart, and throws it on her shelf and you never get it back. its too much for me (Im giving up) too many times Ive had to stitch up the wounds. Im taking myself off the field. youll never hear me say I love you. I remember the time you were impatiently waiting for me to kiss you. and I was nervous cause I didnt know what you would do. would you lean over and use me? get what you wanted and dispose of me? (or would our love finally be real? ) or would love finally be real? and wed live together happily. fat chance. sometimes I still think about you. remember those fun times we had. and those holidays of hell you put me through, run constantly through my head. thank you for rejection left under my tree. my new years resolution is to never date another girl. another girl like you. never date another girl like you. Im throwing in the towel. Im giving up. never again. youll never hear me say I love you. so much for plan a.
