

8 Foot Sativa, Destined To Be Dead

Why must we die. life is a lie. there is no choice
Death is coming
For everyone. under the sun. since life begun
Deaths been growing
Inside of us. so ominous. waiting to crush
The life in us
Struggle of life seems a waste of time
Death will soon be mine
Take my life away

Life has been past by my eyes

No matter what you accomplish. it means nothing
When you are dead
Meaning of life does not exist. coincidence
That we are here
Death is the end of everything. no afterlife
Don't kid yourself
Eventually. dead you will be for eternity
Destined to be dead

Life has been past by my eyes

No certainty when death will be forced upon me
One thing's certain
Death will be here for all out there without a care
Suffocating
You with a death different from the rest
Unknown to the best
Anonymous
Do you wonder then death will come it won't be long
Short lives for us all

Life has been past by my eyes
