

A Bloody Canvas, Astronomy Can Be Fun

Tonight, tonight I'll meet you

Underneath the stars...

I'll sing you something so beautiful

To spark the fireworks hidden behind your eyes

I'll sing you something short and sweet

To light the fire for your fuse

The sky will scream in reds and blues

I'll make tonight so beautiful

For its the night I'll say goodbye...

...isnt it pretty how the stars seem to streak together tonight...

..well i found a new star and it shines brighter than you, it lights my way through the dark, while i'm

...and those nights in my arms prove that the first star you see may not be a star, you were never r

i'll set my telescope to a peripheral view so i can sit and wach you and know you would shine so bright...

..well heres a new star and it could shine brighter than you, brighter than you...

...isnt it pretty how the stars seem to streak together at night?