

A-Camp, Golden Teeth And Silver Medals

Nina Persson:

Anybody tell you that there is no resale value
When your romance goes to hell
You better say farewell to what you thought was wealth

Nikolai Dunger:

Ever get the feeling that the paint has started peeling
Are you staring at the ceiling of your castle
Dreaming that you're someone else

Nina: Would you like to meet me in this song

Nikolai: I've been hoping to

Nina: Would you like to come and prove me wrong

Nikolai: No, I'll agree with you

Both:

Golden teeth and silver medals

Beauty marks and scars

That is what we got

Raindrops in a reservoir

And minutes in a jar

That is what we got

Nina:

Maybe if I had another drink

I'd see the pattern

In the blinking of the traffic lights

Do you think you're happy, Nikolai

Nikolai:

I don't know the answer, Nina

Life is like a melody

A pendulum that swings between the major and the minor

It's a lullaby

Nina: Now I'm so glad I met you in this song

Nikolai: It's just a breath I'll throw

Nina: I'm so glad you're here to sing along

Nikolai: My voice into the flow

Both:

Golden teeth and silver medals

Beauty marks and scars

That is what we got

Raindrops in a reservoir

And minutes in a jar

That is what we got

Nina: I'm a little worried that the worst is yet to come

Nikolai: I'm afraid they'll leave us out here, melting in the sun

Nina: We'll be second best until we know

Both: We have won

Nina: But until we do, we'll sing this song

Nikolai: Till we know we've won

Nina: We'll sing until our need for it is gone

Nikolai: We'll be singing this song

Both:

Golden teeth and silver medals

Beauty marks and scars

That is what we got

Raindrops in a reservoir

And minutes in a jar

That is what we got

Both:

Golden teeth and silver medals

Beauty marks and scars

That is what we got

Raindrops in a reservoir

And minutes in a jar

That is what we got
