

A Camp, I Can Buy You

a life of sanity and dignity you know it takes two and what's the use in being a millionaire if i can't have you i wanna buy you... a home i'll pay your friends if you're feeling alone the pain of losing a guy like you it's a bigger cost than paying your dues i can buy you oh yeah oh yeah but i can't make you do what you don't and i can hire you oh yeah oh yeah but i can't make you love me i can't make you you say i never go for little and i always need more and you're a thousand dollar playboy that i just can't afford but i guess you got me oh oh you got me hanging around for too long i don't wanna stop it oh no oh no i bought you a life and it's with me you belong

i can't make you care

so if i can't make you love me if i can't make you care what prize can take me there in this world?
somebody told me cash is king i didn't mean to force you oh no but i bet you fortune it's with me you belong and i can buy you oh yeah oh yeah

i can't take you there anymore
