A-Camp, The Same Old Song

A-Camp
A-Camp
The Same Old Song
Here's my prayer
I'm getting nowhere
I'm stepping up the stairs
But falling behind, oh
I'm a one-man show
That nobody knows
My body sure knows
I'm wondering why, oh

I can't go on singing this song That the angels will not hear The world is a hole from all that i stole But there is still a little love in here Few things will last, i did it too fast But i'm learning to cry

Don't be a stepping stone Get it all out, deliver it

Here's my weep
I'm digging too deep
I do believe in lies
I've got everything to hide, oh
I'm young, i'm old
I do what i'm told
Cut open, unfold
But there's nothing inside, oh

I can't go on singing this song That the angels will not hear The world is a hole from all that i stole But there is still a little love in here Few things will last, i did it too fast But i'm learning to cry

Hey child, you dance too loud Here is your limit

No, i can't go on singing this song That the angels will not hear The world is a hole from all that i stole But there is still a little love in here Few things will last, i did it too fast But i'm learning to cry

Don't be a stepping stone Get it all out, deliver it

Here's my plead
My never ending repeat
I'm a circular cry-baby
With no one to trust
I'm restless and mad
And anciently sad
If someone wants to kill me
Go ahead but make it fast
