

A Change Of Pace, Sellout

There are no goodbyes, only 'See you agains'
And Minnesota is too far away to picture your eyes
So here's to a love that will be a dying flame
I'll wait for you to come back home
Don't say goodbye, just leave your tears on my shoulder
And recognize this passing time as our story unfolds
So this time it's my turn to wait for you
And I'll be the one your holding on to
My picture on your wall hangs higher than the rest
This image in my mind plays more
Than the last time you saw me and I will see you again
I made a CD with all those songs
That make me think about you
And now that your gone
I find myself counting the days till your home
So here's a song from me to you
With all those things that were left unsaid
And memories fade away
But we'll be the same
Don't say goodbye, just leave your tears on my shoulder
And recognize this passing time as our story unfolds
Good, goodbye to this bittersweet romance
Good, goodbye to this bittersweet romance
Good, goodbye to this bittersweet romance
(Cause fate has a funny way of dealing me these cards)
Good, goodbye to this bittersweet romance
(Cause fate has a funny way of dealing me these cards)
So this time it's my turn to wait for you
And I'll be the one your holding on to
My picture on your wall hangs higher than the rest
This image in my mind plays more
Than the last time you saw me and I will see you again
(Good, goodbye to this bittersweet romance
Good, goodbye to this bittersweet romance)
So this time it's my turn to wait for you
And no holiday will be the same
Without your voice whispering those words of comfort
Come back soon don't keep me waiting here forever