

A Day In The Life, Audrey In Sacramento

I don't wanna see you again
That's what she said as she waved goodbye
Audrey will live alone in Sacramento way beyond the coast
That's when she said something that shook my heart
We were leaving and never coming back again
That's when I knew I would never see you again
It seemed so long ago I was able to breathe
I want nothing more than for you to breathe again
One last breath, one last breath

Kiss me softly and please try not to steal my breath
It's not sweet enough for you
But you can reach down my throat and steal my heart
So yours can beat again
I'd surely sell my heart for an hour with you
And maybe you can spend a night
I'd surely sell my heart for an hour with you
And maybe you can spend a night
