

A Day To Remember, The Danger In Starting A Fire

So now you'll know exactly what it feels like to be an obstacle in my way
You won't remain

save your breath don't even speak if you'll speak of change cause you won't cut to the chase, spare me the lecture on what it takes to make a man cause you're weak, and I'm strong

I will never falter
I'll stand my ground You're a fake, a worthless coward your life won't mean anything

So now you'll know
exactly what it feels like
to be an obstacle in my way
You won't remain

Let's set things straight what's done is done
I never needed you Tell me exactly who do you think that you're kidding?
Everyone will be happy when they find that you're missing You asked if we'd ever forget you We've got our fingers crossed

That's the danger in starting a fire you'll never know how many bridges you'll burn