

A Girl Called Eddy, The Long Goodbye

You stormed my winter palace
You rid my heart of every bit of malice, baby
You're how I won the war
Now your bags are packed, you're walking out the door
In every way there is nothing to say anymore
So this is the long goodbye
Maybe the tears will never dry
This is the long goodbye
Take your records, leave me mine
You're the one who said
We lived it all on borrowed time
So at the end of the day
There was nothing to say anymore
This is the long goodbye
Maybe the tears will never dry
This is the long goodbye
Leaving the past and you behind
This is the long goodbye

So take a good look, make it last
And when you've found the moment's past
Just remember that
Nobody loved you like me
Nobody loved you like me
Nobody loved you like me
Nobody loved you like me
This is the long goodbye
Maybe the tears will never dry
This is the long goodbye
Leaving the past and you behind
This is the long goodbye
I'm outta words on other times
This is the long goodbye
This is the long goodbye
This is the long goodbye
