

A Global Threat, Stop The Violence

A Global Threat
Miscellaneous
Stop The Violence

red light, blue light, someone's gonna die tonight there's a tension in the air, seeing people everywhere suddenly you're surrounded by the ones that you avoid look for help there's no one around, don't want to be destroyed violent kids, death, rape, now there's no escape society creates a trap and now there is no going back roaming groups in tens or twelves no one's thinking for themselves you can't ignore the violent state, can't ignore the fuckin hate
stop the violence
some say some day all this shit will go away do away with the police, the world will live in harmony if you ask me that's fuckin shit, we'll always have to live with it but you can't give up all hope, got to find the courage just to cope
stop the violence