A-ha, Barely Hanging On

I used to be so sensible on my own Now I'm so sensitive it's a joke I'm getting by on decibels like a drug And greet every brand New day with a shrug

I'm barely hanging on

I used to be so comfortable in a suit Almost presentable next to you I used to be so confident in a crowd Now I can't say my own name aloud

I'm barely hanging on

And now I guess you're
Wondering why
We never could see eye to eye
Oh but never mind
And now I guess it's hard to see
What has gotten into me
Oh but never mind

I'm barely hanging on