

A Life Once Lost, Pigeonholed

A Life Once Lost
Iron Gag
Pigeonholed
My lips rest against your forehead
Your eyes close
My eyes close
Our breathing falls into rhythm
Our hands embrace
Each other
While my arms pull us in tighter
Your arms are pushing me away

I am fucked

I have nothing because of you
I've given it all to you

The bastards
That breed the bastards
That raise the bastards
That neglect the bastards

Even when I try to become something
I was let down
You let me down
Whether it was gently or not
You affected me to a certain degree

I have nothing because of you
I've given it all to you

The bastards
That breed the bastards
That raise the bastards
That neglect the bastards

Why do I beg for acceptance in wolfs
Why do I look for answers in fools

I guess they will have to do

I have nothing because of you
I've given it all to you

I have nothing because of you
I've given it all to you

The bastards
That breed the bastards
That raise the bastards
That neglect the bastards

The bastards
That breed the bastards
That raise the bastards
That neglect the bastards