

A Thorn For Every Heart, Rain On Her Parade

Have you ever loved her? I have, and it hurts
To watch you fall like you were nothing. What for?
Your youth is lost.
And I punch the walls. Do you care at all?
Those days were forever ours.
Your forgotten lies.
They stood the test of time
So I take this opportunity, to tell you
What you dont mean to me.
Your grievances have left me standing still
Under a dark grey sky, we've come undone.
And you've lost it all.
You think youre so beautiful. Says who?
With scars of our love, so beautiful, says who?
Before they throw you a parade
We should dispose of your charades
If they only knew (The person that you are)
The person I could be (The person you could've been)
Through rise and fall
You lost it all, you lost it all, you lost it all
So can I really love her? I have, and I know it hurts.
Many times, I felt like I was nothing. What for?
I'll never know (Ive lost it all).