You Can't Hide Beautiful (in album Living Out Loud)

(Michael Dulaney/Jason Sellers)

She says don't stare at me

She's afraid that I might see

Those 5 extra pounds she talks about

I don't know what she's talking about

She looks through magazines

With every page she dreams of

Looking like somebody else

I wish she wasn't so hard on herself

Then she falls asleep with just my t-shirt on

But even when her hair's messed up and her make-up's gone

You can't hide Beautiful

You can't hide wonderful

There's nothing that she has to do

It just comes natural

She makes it look easy

I love what she does to me

No way to disguise

The way that she shines

You can't hide beautiful

She can take a simple dress

Put it on and turn some heads

Everytime she moves she gets me

She doesn't even know she's sexy

And the way she thinks sometimes

Out of nowhere blows my mind

She makes me laugh and makes me dream

I love the way she looks at things

A little piece of heaven god gave to this world

She might think she's just an ordinary girl

You can't hide Beautiful

You can't hide wonderful

There's nothing that she has to do

It just comes natural

She makes it look easy

I love what she does to me

No way to disguise

The way that she shines

You can't hide beautiful
