

Aaron Pritchett, Lucky For Me

One, Two, Three, Four

My jaw hit the floor the day you walked in hmmm
All eyes were pointed in your direction
With nothing to lose I asked you to dance
I didn't think that I'd stand a chance but

Lucky for me you proved me wrong (proved me wrong)
It was a roll of the dice
It was a shot so long
What started out as no hope in hell
Has turned out heavenly
So lucky for me

Just goes to show you can't judge a book by the cover
Cause if I had I'd still be searching for another
And I believed I was living in a dream
At any minute somebody'd wake me, but

Lucky for me you proved me wrong (proved me wrong)
It was a roll of the dice
It was a shot so long
What started out as no hope in hell
Has turned out heavenly
So lucky for me

What started out as no hope in hell
Has turned out heavenly
So lucky for me
Yeah lucky for me
(Lucky for me)
(Lucky for me)
Lucky for me
Lucky for me
