

Aaron Shust, Stars Will Fall

When there's no breath in my lungs to scream
And there's no strength left inside of me
When there's no light that my eyes can see
I will say Your name, I will say Your name
And stars will fall like rain
All the Heavens and the earth will start to shake
Every mountain will be moved and cast away
At the mention of Your name
At the mention of Your name
When hope is a long lost friend
And the broken that was meant to bend
Lift the wounds that were never mend
I will say Your name, I will say Your name
And stars will fall like rain
All the Heavens and the earth will start to shake
Every mountain will be moved and cast away
At the mention of Your name, oh
At the mention of Your name, oh
Jesus, I cry, Jesus
Jesus, I cry, Jesus
And stars will fall like rain
All the Heavens and the earth will start to shake
Every mountain will be moved and cast away
At the mention of Your name, oh
And stars will fall like rain
All the Heavens and the earth will start to shake
Every mountain will be moved and cast away
At the mention of Your name
At the mention of Your name
At the mention of Your name