

Aaron Tippin, At the End of the Day

Jack handed Rita his paycheck
With his apologies
He said, "They're cutting back at work
They had to let me go";
And Jack expected tears, he expected worse
But he didn't expect these words
As Rita pulled him close and she said to him
"Don't worry about it, baby, let me tell you something";
At the end of the day
Is really where it all begins
With who you love, who loves you
And who's your friends
'Cause God don't care where you live
Who you are, what you drive or how much you make
All that really counts is how you sleep
At the end of the day
Now Betty handed Bob the keys
To their million dollar home
Said, Bob, this might be living
But it sure ain't love
I thought I had to have all this, I thought it made me 'Me'
Ah, but now I think that it's just
Twenty cold rooms full of stuff
I need to say it, let me tell you something else, Bob";
At the end of the day
Is really where it all begins
With who you love, who loves you
And who's your friends
'Cause God don't care where you live
Who you are, what you drive or how much you make
All that really counts is how you sleep
At the end of the day
Now when my grandpa died, he didn't have a dime
But he was rich, they say
And when it came time to see him off
The whole damn county came
And I remember he used to say it all the time
At the end of the day
Is really where it all begins
With who you love, who loves you
And who's your friends
'Cause you know, God don't care where you live
Who you are, what you drive or how much you make
All that really counts is how you sleep
At the end of the day, at the end of the day
