

Aberfeldy, Whatever Turns You On

Well think of all the time you spend
Trying to emulate you friends
Are you happy that depends
On whatever turns you on

The government the men in blue
Are keen to hang a sign on you, your friends
No matter what you do
Do whatever turns you on

Do whatever turns you on
Do whatever turns you on

There's no black and white they say
There's only different shades of grey
And you can change them any way
Do whatever turns you on

I believe that it's a sin
The brainless state they keep us in
The only way for you to win
Stick to whatever turns you on
Do whatever turns you on

As thought the days of law and order
And obeying them are gone
Come on
Do whatever turns you on

Do whatever turns you on
Do whatever turns you on
Do whatever turns you on

Well life won't always hold in store
All you want and what is more
But everyday's an open door
Do whatever turns you on
Do whatever turns you on

As thought the days of law and order
And obeying them are gone
Come on
Do whatever turns you on
Do whatever turns you on
