

Abigail Washburn, Strange Things

There are strange things that happen everyday

I said there're strange things that happen everyday

There is one thing I do know, that things are happenin' never happened before

Strange things are happening everyday

Well ships are sinking in the ocean

Planes are having collusion in the air

Well people you may not believe it

But there's something wrong somewhere

Well no matter where you go you'll hear bout a thing you never heard before

Strange things are happening everyday

Some poor wish that they were dead

Some are glad to be alive

We have some who are killin' each other

Some are commitin' suicide

Well there is a better way if you just fall on your knees and pray

Strange things are happening everyday

My God is riding on the water

And he's riding thru the stormy land

Well, churches/people you better get ready

Do as my God command, he says

As you see me go today, I'll be back the same ol way

Strange things are happening everyday
