

Abigail Williams, Floods

A fortress of evil surrounded by darkness I move through the shadows I like the feeling of having you with me the power of the ancient course through my veins as we drink from the everlasting fountains we are gods in this state

I am your keeper
this is shelter
this is everything you've ever wanted
ever needed
I am your keeper
in the eye of the winter
this is everything you've ever wanted
ever needed
this is your sanctuary

Oh I cast my hand out and bring forth the floods unto the lands and cast away all amongst the living from the earth May your spirits cry for all of an eternity though I'll hear them nay There's but one refuge once the storm is summoned Can you hear me? Can you hear me?

I am your keeper
this is shelter
this is everything you've ever wanted
ever needed
I am your keeper
in the eye of the winter
this is everything you've ever wanted
ever needed
this is your sanctuary

Awaken the spirits returning your memories rescuing forever Flood my soul with calamities but my heart is beating me into reality but now I'm leaving I'll walk away from this as the fire burns because these curses have no cure

I call out to the below with hell in my eyes there's no turning back I'll stay here forever your precious flesh is my only token of your memory