

Accidental Superhero, Hope

with the princess i would leave the city gate
she and i would go into the fields and wait for the sky to dusk turn dark and feed the moon
a knight could only hope light would not come soon the land looked weary as we walked over the tombs of the dead of age and those killed in the wombs only darkness could hide the guilt of day

the guilt of those who did their best to look away

so let the darkness
earn us light
and give us day that
wants no night

as we crossed a bridge
i noticed her despair
almost hidden by the beauty of her hair
she was the only one
that i would ever love
could we only live to see the sun above

so let the darkness
earn us light
and give us day that
wants no night

so let the darkness
earn us light
and give us day that
wants no night

the girl and i would run faster every day
where two are gathered
there is always a way

so let the darkness
earn us light
and give us day that
wants no night

so let the darkness
earn us light
and give us day that
wants no night